Sea Life

If it lives or goes into the ocean, it belongs here. Dolphins, whales, fish, mermaids, turtles, penguins, even mermaids.

1 Debi Raitz ★ 11-02-2015 12:20 AM ET (US)	Penguins belong here too. I just love looking at them. I suspect there might be more dolphins than anything else, but we've never done them before.

14 Susie P 11-02-2015 11:49 AM ET (US)	Thank you, Mary!!! 🐱🐱🐱. I wasn't going to be able to look until late tonight!!! Hugs!
15 Judy in Texas 11-02-2015 11:56 AM ET (US)	 This dolphin is seen a lot in salt collections ... I've had this one for some time. I did see one in colors on eBay several years back.
16 Susie P 11-02-2015 12:02 PM ET (US)	M! Trying to email you directly, but something wrong with my system, sorry! Going to work with my phone company....grrrr, but the answer is yes😊😊
17 Lea 11-02-2015 12:41 PM ET (US)	 Okay, I'm still maintaining this is a salt. (If anyone knows different, please let me down gently.)
18 Lea 11-02-2015 12:44 PM ET (US)	 This is actually one of the Richard Dubrough individual ashtrays, but they are also dandy as salts.

41 E. Jane Koble ★ 11-03-2015 02:36 PM ET (US)	Nancy were you at the OSCAR meeting a long time ago when some woman brought one of those Pier 1 salts for show and tell. Someone told her it was new and where it came from. She never shut up about it the whole afternoon - the dealer was a crook, he took me across, etc. Finally Joe Gabriellne told her to shut up! But I like those, too. They remind me of export porcelain.
42 Nancy Dietel ★ 11-03-2015 04:14 PM ET (US)	I dimly remember that meeting, Jane. A few years before that, I put the salt in the Asian salt display I did at one of the meetings. I think it was Ed Berg that pointed out its origin, although I already knew because I bought it at Pier 1. I didn't claim it as old, just thought it looked nice in the display.
43 Inez Austin 11-03-2015 04:53 PM ET (US)	 I am loving looking at all of these. I haven't bought any that I haven't posted. But I will add one at least. Some sort of sea slug, I think.

61 Lynda LaLonde★	Very interesting salts. Mary the silver sea shell with liner is a piece of art. I keep saying I'm not crazy for silver but I do appreciate the beauty of it.

11-05-2015 01:50 PM ET (US)	Where are the crystal salts with the fish tail or the mermaid ect.? I am missing some salts. Guess I need to go thru the other boxes. I dred doing it. Guess the leak may have done me a favor as I have had to move alot of boxes around. It is a mess down there. Ceiling has to be replaced, carpet put back. Pain in the butt.

66 Don Rabourn 11-05-2015 04:18 PM ET (US)	Well, we can DEPEND on Mary to come up with "twisted dolphins"!! Never SAW THEM before! Good SHOW everyone! Don
67 E. Jane Koble★ 11-05-2015	Definitely a good show! Hopefully we can get ours photographed and posted in the next couple of weeks. We are supposed to get all new window soon. We were told to move everything at least 3-5 feet away for all windows, covered everything with dust sheets, and leave for the day

06:43 PM ET (US)	with our pet. Fat chance! The maintenance man did promise to help with the furniture. We've been packing salts, though.
68 Debi Raitz ★ 11-05-2015 07:12 PM ET (US)	Wow Jane! Lots of work for the customer buying new windows. We didn't do a thing when we got new ones years back. They came out and measured once and then installed them all from the outside. There was a guy on the inside but having to move everything 3-5 feet away from windows sounds like overkill. Or they have very clumsy installers! You're supposed to leave the house? I sure wouldn't. Sounds really fishy.
69 E. Jane Koble★ 11-05-2015 07:55 PM ET (US)	We live in an apartment complex. Those were our orders from the office. We told her we were both handicapped, and we couldn't move the furniture. They just said it's our responsibility, and we have to do it. No way we'd leave them alone here.
70 Mary Kern 11-06-2015 12:16 PM ET (US)	Thanks Don - If it is "twisted" or weird - It is a favorite on my shelf - lol Thinking about what you are going through Jane - Holding good thoughts and NO I would not leave a work crew alone in my house or apartment -- Excuse me What the heck are they thinking -- and a pet - especially a cat gone from home all day - Is she supposed to just hold it and eat out of a bowl in a carrier -- Dang - Let me at 'em ---
71 Lynda LaLonde★ 11-06-2015 12:48 PM ET (US)	Jane, What a crock. I'd report them to the ADA. Something is wrong with the management of that place. Dirty birds. And, as with the rest of the gang, don't leave them alone in your apt. Debi, yes, yes you got it! Those are such fantastic salts to begin with and you have all 4. I love this grouping so much. I only have the single tail. Lolololol hope for the future!
72 Debi Raitz ★ 11-06-2015 02:57 PM ET (US)	Jane: My guess is that the apartment management felt the workers would work faster if they had no one to talk to, animals to contend with or anything within 5 feet of a window. There really is no reason for that 3-5 foot thing. If you're thinking you have to move salt cabinets that distance it's just dumb. I'd stay home and refrain from talking to them. Just sit down, relax and pet your cat. I have never heard of any repair or construction company requiring the resident leave the home...unless it was a fumigation and you could get poisoned.
73 E. Jane Koble★ 11-06-2015 04:00 PM ET (US)	We're going to have to shut the cat in a bathroom. She's kind of afraid, and I wouldn't want her getting really upset and jumping out a window. We not moving cases, but we did pack up salts from what-not shelves that are right next to the windows. Maintenance is supposed to come and take down the blinds because they belong to the apartment, but we of course have to do the curtains. It'll probably be really cold by the time they get here, too. I'll just be glad when it's over.
74 "The Salty Nut"... PJ 11-07-2015 07:53 PM ET (US)	Jane... A voice from the long lost void... yes... it's me !!! We too live in a multi level complex... 3 stories high... 400 units... approximately 800 windows +/- They were ALL replaced this past summer !!! From the outside !!!!! We could STAY IN our apartment during the installation... Talk to the workers... did NOT have to move a thing... our staff - if anything did need moving - saw to it that it was temporarily moved... which would be a desk, a chair, a table, anything like that... of

	course your salts would not be involved.... because your salts would not be near a window !!! would they ??? Not mine !!! But... we did NOT have much dust at all.... because everything was done from the OUTSIDE !!! We are in the process now of being repainted (outside only - NO MESS INSIDE at all !!!) Something is VERY WRONG !!! You need to talk to your management !!! and if that doesn't bring any CORRECT answers... talk to an ombudsmen or what ever they're called !!!!! Get your family involved !!! YOU shouldn't have to move any heavy furniture !!! Especially if you are in a care facility... if you are not... then... maybe it's time to think about moving into one ????? LOVE and HUGS... My heart is with you !!!
75 "The Salty Nut"... PJ 11-07-2015 08:20 PM ET (US)	 Ok... here comes a fish... probably one of the ugliest salts I own - in my own eyes that is... but... it was given to me by "Red" Roettels... one of the authors of THE L.G.WRIGHT - GLASS COMPANY book about the history of the company and the glass it produced... But... It's not in that book... so, I doubt it was made by LG Wright... any guesses ??? Under the lid it has PISELLO 1982 in raised letters... PISELLO is also embossed into the underside of the left front "flipper"... ???
76 Nancy Dietel★ 11-08-2015 07:10 AM ET (US)	 Not my fish, just wish they were! We really need new carpet. I'm ashamed to even say how old our wall to wall carpeting is. The thought of moving heavy furniture and packing salts gives me nightmares. So we will live with it. Can hardly believe what they want you to do, Jane! No way!
77 E. Jane Koble★ 11-08-2015 09:17 AM ET (US)	Thanks, Nancy. We have the original carpet and paint from when the building was built in the mid-80's. And it's going to be this way until we move out! Sorry those aren't your fishies!

78 Nancy Dietel★ 11-08-2015 10:00 AM ET (US)	 This is a cheap version of a silver fish/dolphin? Salt. This is very lightweight metal, may even be plastic with light silvering. The blue salt part is not removable and is plastic also. I paid very little for it many years ago. The real silver & glass one is beautiful, but, alas, I don't have it!
79 Janelle 11-08-2015 05:23 PM ET (US)	 A normal sized salt but a itty bitty dolphin
80 Lynda LaLonde★ 11-08-2015 05:48 PM ET (US)	About a week and a half ago my refrigerator decided to leak and not tell me. I was in the salt room and heard dripping. Ceiling bowed, walls wet, rug saturated. Nightmare. I had boxes of Barbies and framed photos all over the room. I moved what I could but had to call kids to help. Now the owner is going to replace dry wall and carpet. I have salts, boxes, and a dresser that has to get moved out. It is a mess. So, I know how ya feel.
81 E. Jane Koble★ 11-08-2015 08:24 PM ET (US)	That is much worse than our problem! Hope you get it all fixed soon, Lynda.
82 Linda Houser 11-09-2015 10:42 AM ET (US)	It must be time for appliances to quit, my stove malfunctioned and had to be replaced, then the garage door opener quit! At least the car was outside when it happened. Lynda, hope your home gets back to normal soon Nancy, we both need new carpet, and I also don't want to have to move furniture. I normally move salts out of display cases and put in Christmas items later in the month, but I'm not sure how much of that is going to happen this year. love your little fishies!
83 Mary Kern 11-09-2015 06:57 PM ET (US)	Why do most of these things happen around the Holidays -- Sorry to hear everyone is having Home and appliance trouble and that it all gets taken care of before Turkey Day and Decoration time -- There are some incredible fishes out there ---- Thanks for sharing and causing drooling and just a minor amount of E N V Y !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

94 Nancy Dietel★ 11-10-2015 01:58 PM ET (US)	 And, of course, the infamous Majolica salt from one of the conventions. I hate it, but I'm just home from extensive gum surgery, so I'm a bit loopy. Thought I should show it. There is also a double of this "lovely".
95 Susie P 11-10-2015 01:58 PM ET (US)	Nancy, Yay, you did! Thanks again; see I had to sell them together😊😊😊 Mary, your KPM is one of my favorites, So pretty!!

97 Nancy Dietel★ 11-11-2015	We all have different taste, Lynda. That's what makes our show & tell so interesting. I just generally don't care for Majolica, although there are some exceptions. Many of us were disappointed when this salt became the Convention salt.

05:09 PM ET (US)
98 Debi Raitz ★ 11-11-2015 10:27 PM ET (US)	I'd say there were several disappointments in convention salts, Nancy. Inconsistencies in appearance, quality and sizing, and items that will never be recognized as open salts in later years.
99 Jytte 11-12-2015 01:11 AM ET (US)	 Luckily there are different tastes.... but I don't think many would love the salt I add now :-) Still enjoy my morningcoffee looking at your beauties...

101 Nancy Dietel★ 11-12-2015 11:01 AM ET (US)	Jytte, I love your #99. I generally like shell salts. I think that gray lump in the middle of the Convention salt is really what ruins it. Looks like brains to me. I guess it's supposed to be coral or seaweed, or whatever, but it just doesn't do it for me. Edited 11-12-2015 11:03 AM
102 Lynda LaLonde★ 11-12-2015 11:11 AM ET (US)	Nancy and Debi, I don't mind being a weirdo, have been a little wacky all my life. Lolol, I am with you Nancy, I don't really like majolica. There is just something about the sea shells that I like. I guess convention salts are like anything else, some are beautiful, some strange, some too big, some tipsey, kinda like people. Lolol

114 The Salty Nut... PJ 11-18-2015 09:39 PM ET (US)	Jane... I've had most of those LONG before we moved out here to the WESTERN world !!!... LOL !!! And... of course then there was always ebay... I haven't looked on ebay for a LONG time though... Hope you all have a Blessed Thanksgiving with your family and loved ones !!!
115 Kent Hudson 11-19-2015 12:16 AM ET (US)	 A couple of Royal Worcester, I believe they are blush ivory. Just found the dolphin with the sea shell at the Baltimore Summer Antique show in August.
116 Kent Hudson 11-19-2015 12:19 AM ET (US)	 Italian glass dolphins. The short one has been repaired, so bowl is sitting a little crooked.

	Another KPM porcelain like Mary Kern's but decorated differently.
118 Susie P★ 11-19-2015 05:16 AM ET (US)	Pretty doubles, PJ! And love the anchor!!! Kent, those blush ivory are so awesome!!! Really like them!!!
119 E. Jane Koble★ 11-19-2015 08:03 AM ET (US)	Love them all, Kent!
120 Nancy C Villaverde★ 11-19-2015 11:45 AM ET (US)
	I love Royal Worcester. This delicate shell looks much like the one on Kent's dolphin base.

	Another angle.
122 Lynda LaLonde★ 11-19-2015 12:13 PM ET (US)	Hey Kent, So nice to hear from you. I love the Italian dolphins. Delicate and pretty. P.J, Your doubles are very unique. I like them all, especially the monster. Lolol, looks like a frog to me. Nancy V, That piece is exquisit. Edited 11-19-2015 12:15 PM
123 Don Rabourn 11-19-2015	P.J., your Anchor salt is quite "unique", Not the salt, but the Anchor!! That salt has been used for "numerous" doubles! Would be interesting to SEE

04:21 PM ET (US)	how many variations of handles are "out there"! I KNOW I have several myself!
124 Nancy Dietel★ 11-20-2015 09:42 AM ET (US)	 Since we are showing shells, I have 3 Limoges shells. This, I think is meant to be an oyster shell. Very delicate coloring.
125 Nancy Dietel★ 11-20-2015 09:43 AM ET (US)	 This shell is mint green around the outside. Edited 11-20-2015 09:43 AM
126 Nancy Dietel★ 11-20-2015 09:46 AM ET (US)	 This is gorgeous so I'm going to show 2 images. Very shiny gold inside, thus reflections and distortions in photo. Matte cobalt on outside.

128 Nancy Dietel★ 11-20-2015 10:01 AM ET (US)	 This is a lovely Pickard shell. Sweet flowers inside & out.

129 Don Rabourn 11-20-2015 04:00 PM ET (US)	Nancy D., Did you know that your #124 is Royal Bayreuth? I've never see it marked, but I have been assured that it is R.B.!
130 Nancy Dietel★ 11-20-2015 04:23 PM ET (US)	Hi, Don, #124 is marked Limoges, France. But I think I heard that it is Royal Bayreuth somewhere in time. It is very pretty.
131 Mary Kern 11-20-2015 10:07 PM ET (US)	 Soooo obviously you did and quite well if I do drool myself -----
132 Nancy Dietel★ 11-23-2015 11:54 AM ET (US)	 I think this is a fish. Maybe a fantasy fish. Has beautiful delicate coloring with gold flecks.

139 Nancy Dietel★ 11-25-2015 11:14 AM ET (US)	 Oneida silver plate turtle. Part of a series that came out in the 60's. My Sister-in-law gave me this one + the snail &a swan for one of our anniversaries. I think there is also a fox and a few other animals.
140 Mary Kern 11-27-2015 11:07 AM ET (US)

	 Cast iron pelican - Last show I did one of the dealers brought him over and asked if he was a salt - I said NO but he is cute - How much?? He said it was not his and he would go ask for me - Came back and said the seller said it should be a salt and it was a gift -- Nice present and I am happy to know I have all the sellers trained to believe that if it is small and has a bowl it is a salt --- and of course should be MINE !!!
141 E. Jane Koble★ 11-27-2015 12:38 PM ET (US)	The trained sellers are the best - my customers trained me good! We said we would go nowhere today. We decided to go out for lunch. When we got back, there was a phone message. My brother-in-law has some odd-size boxes for me that I need to ship Christmas presents. Now we have to go to Dover, too. Why do I keep getting odd-size things?!
142 E. Jane Koble★ 11-27-2015 03:54 PM ET (US)	And, of course, the boxes won't work!
143 Mary Kern 11-28-2015 11:30 AM ET (US)	Big Bummer Jane!! Several times I have decided against posting items on eBay because of the shape and size - When I first started I was selling my collection of Jig Saw puzzles - The ones I had were highly collectible - But finding boxes to ship them in was always a problem -- Fortunately a box and shipping store opened just down the hill from me so it is easier now -
144 E. Jane Koble★ 11-28-2015 01:13 PM ET (US)	 Finally got these taken. Three turtles.
