1 Debi Raitz★ 02-01-2016 01:25 AM ET (US)	I guess I'll leave it up to you if you want to include pedestals instead of sticking to flat oval shapes.
2 mary 02-01-2016 09:32 AM ET (US)	Can our ovals have pointy ends?? Like are what "they" call boat shaped considered to be oval?? Just early morning wondering ----

I am not liking black licorice, so never noticed pink good and plenty. Hope we can do ovals with points. Lololol, should have known you'd have ovals in silver. Lolololol. 16 mary 02-01-2016 02:38 PM ET (US)	My Dear Dear Judy in Texas - I live to find information of Silver salts with cobalt liners - especially ones I do not have - Feel free to take advantage of my desire for knowledge and submit your sample Number 15 to me post haste - I - in turn - shall give you maker and circa at some particular time when I have found said information - Please be advised that true research can take an indefinite period of time - But Trust Me - it will be well worth the seemingly eternal wait -- Yours exceedingly greedily - me

21 Debi Raitz★ 02-01-2016 04:40 PM ET (US)	How about if we do Pedestal Salts next month and just the flat and footed ovals this month? That will take care of trying to figure out another topic which is getting harder to do. Pointy ends can be included here too...just basically an oval shape that's not a pedestal.

I call these Chinese Export although I learned that the unmarked ones were not exported. I have 5 or 6 different ones, some marked some not. They are condiment dishes so technically they are salts.

48 Debi Raitz★ 02-01-2016 07:21 PM ET (US)	I always just go through my picture file from the beginning when posting topic salts. Because they are named China, then Blue Onion, Blue Willow and blue and white in general, they are at the beginning followed by Glass, Pottery, Silver, Wood, etc.

152 Jan Schmidt 02-04-2016 08:26 PM ET (US)	Hey, Mary--helpful hint for the day (night): any salt that you suspect may be English or just haven't id'd, feel around the inside. The Rd numbers are just about invisible on so many but you can still feel them. These came after the lozenge marks.
153 Jytte 02-05-2016 04:18 PM ET (US)	 Thanks Debi - you have better blue/white Royal Copenhagen than me :-) and soon I'll add a pic from my fantastic trip to SA Salt: Old Royal Copenhagen

Of course I would have ovals in my faience - I will not show the double with oval salts - too many - but these are Alcide Chaumeil - One is a double - This one is open bowl - I also have it in a round styling - You know I love the footsies too

174 Debi Raitz★ 02-06-2016 11:18 PM ET (US)	For so many years I had the holder in your #166, Mary. I have never found a liner to fit. Since you have the salt, can you check your liners in the next couple years and see if you have another that fits? I am in no hurry. I must have had the holder for 12-15 years with no liner so a couple more won't hurt. LOL
175 mary 02-06-2016 11:53 PM ET (US)	Just stopped by to see if there were any new pretties for me to dream about - Have one Debi - In the mail Monday - Have to go to the post office anyway --

429 Nancy C Villaverde★ 02-17-2016 12:38 PM ET (US)	Debi, that Czech oval is beautiful. Lucky find indeed, PJ! My husband and I had a wonderful day at the big Paris flea market, but I wasn't collecting salts yet and didn't look for those. I bought a Limoges fish plate that I still love. For a time I bought plates when we traveled since they packed so easily between layers of clothes in bags. I mourn all the years we traveled and I didn't hunt salts!

E. Jane Koble★ 02-24-2016 09:08 PM ET (US)	Footies with footsies! Way to go, Mary!
482 Mary Kern★ 02-24-2016 10:23 PM ET (US)	I never thought of it that way Jane - Clever !!
483 Lynda LaLonde★ 02-25-2016 11:14 AM ET (US)	Ohhh Mary, #477 is beautiful. Blue is one of my favorit colors and this one is exquisite. Lololol, Jane, indead, clever. Edited 02-25-2016 11:15 AM
484 Janelle 02-25-2016 04:07 PM ET (US)	My goodness there are some pretty salts this month. If only we could put them all in a book.
485 Lynda LaLonde★ 02-25-2016 09:21 PM ET (US)	Hey J.J., that's exactly what we are doing. Lolololol
486 Jytte 02-26-2016 12:08 AM ET (US)	 Oh Mary - what a beauty - you should like Lynda and me prefere the naturel look of silver :-) Salt from Bohemian 1850
487 Susie P★ 02-26-2016 05:21 AM ET (US)	A beauty!, Jytte!!! Love these😊😊😊❤❤
488 Mary Kern★ 02-26-2016	Oh Jytte - we are with twins again - though mine has the white bowls and yes it is NOT shiny bright - I must admit there are some silvers that hold more appeal with the darkness to them -- But there are some that "require" a shine -- lol lol

08:07 AM ET (US)
489 Judy in Texas 02-26-2016 09:00 AM ET (US)	 Great salts this month...I hadn't thought much about this one being oval. It is French.
490 Susie P 02-26-2016 10:19 AM ET (US)	Judy, that is a beautiful salt! Both the silver and the glass!
491 Nancy C Villaverde ★ 02-26-2016 10:31 AM ET (US)	Amazing what beauties this month's topic produced. You just never know!
492 Mary Kern★ 02-26-2016 02:00 PM ET (US)	Are we still doing the oval/boat pedestals next month??????
493 Debi Raitz★ 02-27-2016 01:01 AM ET (US)	Oval pedestals for March it is!
494 Mary Kern★ 02-27-2016 07:22 AM ET (US)	 Oh Goody - that should prove to be quite a beautiful month also -- Just got this one in - I know it is porcelain and simple - Once in a while I have to go back to my roots - lol lol
495	How pretty, Mary. I think that's a wild rose.

497 Susie P★ 02-27-2016 05:45 PM ET (US)	Neat Debi! Love it, and had never heard of it!!
498 Debi Raitz★ 02-27-2016 06:06 PM ET (US)	It is beautiful, but you need to be "rich" to acquire it. LOL
499 Nancy C Villaverde★ 02-27-2016 06:21 PM ET (US)	I guess it's a salt, Debi, since you didn't say otherwise. But wouldn't that be a gorgeous platter? I've also never seen the colored blue onion.
500 Mary Kern★ 02-27-2016 09:53 PM ET (US)	That is incredible Debi !!!
501 Janelle 02-27-2016 10:21 PM ET (US)	A pretty one Debi, love the way the colours pop out at you.
