SMALL TOWN AMERICA

Small Town America...

The origins of Mosser Glass go back more than half a century to the time when Orie Mosser was the plant manager of the Cambridge Glass Company – a small town glassware manufacturer in the heart of the Midwest. His son, Tom, began working there as a teenager, learning the trade from bottom to top. When Cambridge Glass closed in 1954, Tom decided to continue in the glass business, starting his own company in his hometown.

From day one, Tom Mosser was committed to manufacturing quality glassware, and his dedication was rewarded with continuing success. In 1971, he established Mosser Glass with a product line that blends new designs with timeless classics acquired from Viking, L.G. Wright and of course, Cambridge Glass.

Today, Mosser Glass employs more than 30 people in an efficient manufacturing process configured to provide the highest quality glassware for our customers. And the fine family tradition continues with family members bringing new ideas to the company while keeping with the traditions our customers cherish.

And it's those local Mosser customers who, in turn, continue to carry on the small-town traditions of Amanda Cox, chocolatier and owner of Nothing But Chocolate and bakers, Patty and Bobby, owners of Kennedy's Bakery love their hometown of Cambridge, Ohio.

Cambridge. From life-size characters displayed around town for the annual holiday Dickens Victorian Village, to indulging at local sweet shops like Kennedy's Bakery and Nothing But Chocolate, it's the traditions these small businesses preserve that emulate what it truly means to be small-town America.

The Mosser family is proud of the legacy that Orie and Tom began in their hometown. As you look through the following pages, you will see we continue that legacy, blending beauty and fine craftsmanship in every piece of glassware we produce. We hope it brings you as much pleasure as it brings us.

The Proof is in the Family at Kennedy's Bakery

Patty and Bobby's grandfather opened Kennedy's Bakery in 1925 with family in mind. Whether it be his own family or the families all around Cambridge and beyond, he wanted everyone to feel at home in his shop. Patty and Bobby, co-owners of Kennedy's, grew up helping out making fresh dough in the back and greeting customers up in the front.

"Small town bakeries don't exist anymore," said Bobby, the younger brother and all-around baker/small business owner. "We are proud to be a place where both loyal and out-of-town visitors come to 'get their fix' of Kennedy's while passing through."

This family environment doesn't just occur in the bakery, it's evident throughout the town as well. Cambridge is another world in and of itself, it's spectacularly unique in every way. From those, like Patty and Bobby, who call it home, to those who have come to know it as their home away from home, Cambridge and Kennedy's will always welcome all who visit with open arms.

Nothing But Chocolate – A Small Town Shop that Couldn't be Sweeter

Amanda Cox began her career as a chocolatier in the mid-2000's. At first, Nothing But Chocolate was just a side business, built from her passion for sweets. However, when the recession hit, Amanda decided to quit her full-time job in marketing and jump headfirst into her passion and hasn't looked back since.

From a neighboring suburb, Amanda grew up in and around Cambridge and fell in love with the town, so much so that she decided to settle down and purchase her own space for chocolate shop. She creatively decorates it for the season, with a theme or just with chocolate in mind.

As a small business owner in small town America, she believes it's hometown businesses like hers and many others in Cambridge that help the country's economy thrive and bring us together as a nation.
